Money Will Last
It Takes Strange Forms
An Editor's Appeal
England's Cheap Gold
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The editor of the French Journal, "France Revue," has written an editorial which is a study in the money market. He says that one of the things which has caused the fall in the value of the franc is the fact that the franc is no longer a gold coin but a paper coin. He says that the franc is no longer a gold coin but a paper coin. He says that the franc is no longer a gold coin but a paper coin.

Many French intellectuals believe that the franc will soon be taken over by the international government, under the direction of Russia. They say that it will be a gold coin, and that it will be a gold coin. They say that it will be a gold coin, and that it will be a gold coin.

At the moment, however, there is great pessimism and for good reason. The franc is no longer a gold coin but a paper coin. It is no longer a gold coin but a paper coin. It is no longer a gold coin but a paper coin.

Meanwhile, money taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

There are similar cases all over the world. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

Now the French money has changed. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

After that, the money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

In England, the money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

There are many more cases of money being taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms. The money is taken in strange forms.

LONDON READY FOR DROUTH TALK WITH ROOSEVELT

HAS RELIEF PLAN TO OFFER; BANS POLITICS ON TRIP

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Topeka, Kan., Sept. 2.—Governor Alfred M. Landon was ready today to lay aside his role of Republican nominee for President to attend President Roosevelt's drouth relief conference in Des Moines tomorrow as the chief executive of Kansas.

The governor banned all Republican politics on the trip. He will accommodate himself to President Roosevelt, having accepted both Landon and Hoover as participants in the drouth relief conference.

Landon was prepared to offer a plan of drouth relief recommendations if any are asked by the President. His program probably will follow the line of recommendations he sent the President in June, 1934.

At that time, Landon urged Federal and state cooperation in a comprehensive water conservation and flood control program that featured national planning for the preservation of water sheds. It included control of soil erosion, construction of private flood control, impounding of water on creeks with reservoirs on their tributaries, stream, levee and water storage at strategic points.

As Governor of Kansas, Landon urged the President to his full cooperation, carrying such a program. On his own initiative, he launched construction of farm ponds throughout Kansas, several thousand being planned to be of service in the next drouth. State officials reported these ponds have saved many farms from devastation by the drouth.

Landon will leave here early tomorrow by automobile, planning to make the Kansas drive to Des Moines in time to be present at the

"The Incumbent is greater as well as more evident when the speaker is a priest."

In high Vatican circles, it was stressed the observance comment did not meet the Vatican's disapproval of the editorial published in the Observer by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, who is a vocal critic of the Vatican.

The Vatican, it was stated, approved the work Father Coughlin has done in interpreting the Pope's encyclicals on economic matters to the public.

However, high sources said, the Vatican disapproves Father Coughlin's attack on President Roosevelt as an attack on a constituted authority.

The Vatican, as the Observer comment pointed out, does not want to see the respect of the masses for their authorities shaken by such attacks.

What happens when the masses are respect for their authorities, the prelate stated, now may be seen in Spain.

The prelate also made it plain the comment was not directed, in any sense, against Bishop Gallagher, but against reports which

All Parties Spur Fight to Win Maine Vote

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Augusta, Me., Sept. 2.—Maine's legislature should have been the focus of the three great parties converged upon the state.

The major and exciting developments were these:

1.—Congressman Robert Leach of New York, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, conferred with Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., and the other candidates.

He told them Governor Landon is hopeful of a smashing Republican victory here on September 14 because of its effect upon the nation.

2.—Congressman Lemke and Thomas C.'Brien, Union party candidates for President and Vice-President, declared to Maine rally audiences that the new ticket has "shooked the most honest and the most patriotic people have been injured to the working people."

3.—Colonel Edward A. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion, declared in a public address that the new ticket in Maine should vote for Senator White in 1936.

That the incoming Congress, to be elected in November, will be used for additional federal appropriations to meet the situation now is a little doubtful.

How much is a question as to whether the situation is expected to be a little more clear after Roosevelt has seen and conferred with these governors and their agricultural and relief experts.

The meeting was held in the city of Augusta, Maine, at the Hotel Augusta, where the candidates for President and Vice-President were met.

JAPAN TO HOLD ALL U-BOATS, SHE SAYS

London, Sept. 2 (AP)—Japan created a new naval sensation today by officially notifying Great Britain of her intention to retain 15,000 tons of excess submarines which should be scrapped before the end of the year under terms of the London naval treaty.

Refutation of this tonnage will give Japan nearly a 40 per cent supremacy over the United States and Britain in submarine strength.

In the case of destroyers, the treaty's "escalator" clause in the case of destroyers, Japan will retain 11,000 tons of destroyers, an amount which Japan the right to retain.

Japan's reply to the British notification, Japan advised she did not possess enough excess destroyers and therefore was retaining 11,000 tons of destroyers, utilizing the balance to retain 15,000 tons of submarines.

U. S. Great Britain To Follow Lead

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—aval officers said today there was a United States and Great Britain would follow the lead of Japan in retaining excess destroyers.

The British navy is expected to be scrapped by next January the balance of the fleet.

This government has not been in a position to make a decision. Generally it was interpreted here as a move to maintain the treaty's "escalator" clause.

Under the "escalator" clause, which provides that the United States and Great Britain must retain a certain number of submarines, Japan is entitled to retain a certain number of submarines.

"The reason this present administration failed in the major responsibility was partly because it failed to absorb and understand that fundamental principle which Calvin Coolidge so well understood. High taxes make for bad times. Low taxes promote prosperity. Taxes under the New Deal have reached a height never touched before by any kind of government in the world."

"The cost of government a half dozen years ago consumed one-seventh of the national income, today the cost of government consumes one-fourth."

"This huge increase in the cost of government is not the only point of interest to the working people of Worcester. Six years ago only 30 per cent of the federal government was paid by indirect taxes, income taxes. Today 80 per cent of the federal load of taxes is on consumption goods. That means the great mass of people are paying the costs every dollar of federal taxes paid."

"When the household goes to the store for a loaf of bread, 30 per cent of the price of bread is paid for the cost of government. When you go in a filling station to fill your tank with gas you pay over 200 cents on each gallon of gasoline."

"In fact, the taxes cost of gas is greater than the cost of gasoline itself. When you go to the store to buy yourself a shirt you contribute to the cost of federal government."

"In everything you buy, in everything you use, you are constantly contributing to the cost of government. No matter how humble your place in the community, your income, are paying a part of the cost of the extravagance and waste that has characterized government in Washington the past three and a half years."

"In the brief speech delivered at Northampton, the Republican candidate is expected to greet Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, widow of late President."

"At Pittsfield, the Coolidge will be given a grand old time. Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Knox, who is accompanying him on the tour, are spending each night in their car."

Democrats Third In R. L. Says Martin

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., eastern division master of the Republican campaign, returned today from a trip through Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts with Colonel Franklin D. Roosevelt vice-presidential nominee.

Martin said the House Party was going to surprise the Democrats in New England. "I wouldn't be surprised to see the Democrats get third in Rhode Island."

CHILDREN MUST AID PARENTS

If the question arises, as seems likely, the state department of public welfare will rule that children must support their aged parents in the best of their ability, according to a statement made today by Frank W. Goodrich, director of aid and relief.

Mr. Goodrich said: "The department is taking the position that children have not been relieved of the responsibility of supporting their parents, if able. But we feel that local bureaus should take a more generous attitude so as not to crowd children if they have families of their own to support."

"In the new law there is definite provision that in granting assistance the resources of the children are to be considered in setting the amount of assistance to be granted."

Norway decided to intern Trotsky rather than concede to a Soviet Russian demand for his expulsion on charges of terrorist activities.

Three rooms and a kitchen were provided for the exiled Bolshevik and his wife in the small farm house.

Before he left his house here, Trotsky conferred at length with the lawyer, Michael Pinterovsk, and asked him to seek permission for the continuance of his literary activities. He said he wanted to earn enough to pay his expenses.

Trotsky also reiterated his desire to appear in an impartial court, Norwegian or international, to disprove the Russian accusations that he was the leader of the 16 anti-Stalin plotters who were recently executed.

ROWS DELAY BALLOTS

Mason Resfused Place on Ticket

Contests over place on the state primary election ballot, September 15, waged before the state board of election, have delayed the printing of the ballots by 10 days.

Secretary of State Franklin D. Roosevelt today in response to the board's decision.

The commission is sitting day and night to keep the election on its original schedule. Union declared.

The petition of William Kennedy Mason, Master, Independent Trade and Labor Union, for a writ of habeas corpus, forcing the commission to grant him a place on the ballot was denied by Justice Stanley R. Gray.

Justice Gray stated that no reason for his mandatory placement on the November ballot was set forth in his petition.

BRIDE Learns of CROWDS

FLEES AFTER THEFT CHARGE

Dr. Hope M. Dills, young Kittery, Me., bride, today added to her observations on the "life of a shoplifter" some tidbits on crowd psychology and the benefit of publicity.

After having her case continued to September 16 on the plea of her attorney, W. H. Brown, Dr. Dills, Jr., 26, in their auto arrived at the hotel where she was to be married and the wedding took place.

"Confession of the crime attracted several hundred persons who followed her and her husband from Dills, Jr., 26, in their auto arrived at the hotel where she was to be married and the wedding took place.

"We must ask that this case be continued three weeks, so that the interest whipped up by the newspapers in this case subsides," Dr. Dills, Jr., said.

Contractor Kidnaped And Shot

St. Clements, Mich., Sept. 2 (UPI)—Ernest Gallagher, 45-year-old Detroit construction company head, was seriously wounded near here today by a bandit who, Gallagher said, kidnaped him at his office and stood him up against a tree in an attempted execution.

Gallagher, with a bullet wound in his neck and stomach, was found by two farmers in an isolated district in Macomb County.

"I'm going to finish you off," the bandit told Gallagher as he fled.

According to Gallagher, the bandit waylaid him as he opened his office in Detroit this morning and forced him to open the safe, in which there was only $25 in cash.

"Then he made me get back into my car and drive toward St. Clements," Gallagher continued.

"He directed me to an isolated spot, told me to get out of the car and walk ahead of him into some dense woods."

"There he made me stand facing a tree. He told me 'I'm going to finish you off.' Before I could say anything he shot me."

TREE EXPERTS CONFER HERE

Tree outbreaks in the forest lands of the country constitute a serious menace, experts attending the 12th Annual National Shadetree conference declared today.

The conference opened at the Hotel Statler today with more than 200 shade-tree experts and consultants present.

Dr. H. H. Bennett, state entomologist of Maine, told the convention that insect outbreaks which have frequently ruined great wood areas throughout the nation, are largely due to the replacement of the mixed growth forests of the East by pure type forests.

Dr. W. H. Burtin, of the New York state department of agriculture, was another speaker.

Tire Easily?

That dragging feeling is frequently a sign of a lubricant shortage in the joints of your car. However, headlamps, steering knuckles and axle knuckles can all be greased in the same way.

Conspicuous advantage for the Nujol is its ease of use. It does not attract dirt and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the joints. It softens the wax and grease and permits thorough and regular movement without abrasion.

Just use Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever expected you could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

DEFICIT BILLION GREATER THAN ESTIMATED

Washington, Sept. 2.—By approximately $1,000,000,000, the New Deal will run over its annual Federal deficit forecast for January for the fiscal year 1936-1937, claims of President Roosevelt's budget committee figures released today.

The gross deficit, it was predicted, will go as high as $2,000,000,000, which is nearly twice as great as the January forecast.

Roosevelt estimated the total cash outlay during the 1937 fiscal year would aggregate $7,222,000,000. This will include $1,500,000,000 for recovery and relief, $600,000,000 for complete payments on bonus certificates, $400,000,000 for cash refunds, $250,000,000 for interest payments on the public debt, and the remainder for operation of the Federal departments.

Against these expenditures, the President anticipates an inflow of $5,000,000,000 from taxes and miscellaneous sources, leaving a deficit next June 30 of $2,000,000,000.

This would be the lowest deficit ever allowed by the administration. On June 30 of this year the deficit was $2,740,000,000, while on June 30, 1935, it amounted to over $2,570,000,000 and a year earlier, $2,950,000,000.

REDUCE BORROWING

To make up the additional cash required for Federal disbursements, the President expects the treasury to borrow only $2,000,000,000 in one ninety billion one and next June will reduce $1,000,000,000 of the cash on hand in government bonds.

This small anticipated borrowing represents a huge reduction from recent administration forecasts. Between December, 1935 and last June, cash borrowing amounted to more than $3,000,000,000.

In addition, the decision to authorize $100,000,000 for the Federal Reserve's working balance represents a change of policy regarding monetary aid to emergency in Europe.

To be sure, the administration has long expected a $100,000,000 loan to be used to purchase American securities and to finance the war of resistance abroad.

While estimating total cash for the current fiscal year at $1,500,000,000, Roosevelt estimated that cash and investments would amount to an additional $1,000,000,000.

NO NEW RELIEF

He released an assertion in Congress that the new January budget message that on new relief appropriations which he considers "very definitely a substantial increase" for the nation.

"The unemployed are continuing to be absorbed in industry, and I believe there will be a further substantial increase of such employment during the coming months," the President said.

Whether it will be sufficient to permit such a reduction in work relief rolls as will bring them within the amount appropriated by Congress is a matter that cannot be determined for several months.

In estimating revenues, the amount that would be necessary to care for a reduced number of unemployed during the current fiscal year, an amount which he claims has affected large sections of our country.

MAY BE INCREASED

To provide relief for the drought-stricken areas, the President asked large expenditures from the emergency relief appropriations now necessary.

The total amount that will be needed for this purpose cannot be determined for several months.

'Why T'ant I Do Widin' Mummy?'

A plaintive question Baby Peggy Elaherty, 556 East 5th street, South Boston, is asking her perplexed mother today. Mrs. Mary Elaherty reported to police that carriage was stolen from in front of home between time she carried baby inside, and returned for carriage. The theft was latest of many such "mummy thief" acts on recent police record.

Police determined at this time, he declared.

"Another survey of the unemployment problem, and the amount required for drought relief will be made early in the coming calendar year, and if additional appropriations for these purposes are found necessary, the amount extended herefrom will, of course, increase the estimated expenditure shown in this (revised budget) summary."

While forecasting a reduction of more than 50 per cent in the deficit for next year, the President made no reference to ultimate balancing of the budget.

He estimated that the deficit for the current fiscal year would be $2,000,000,000, which is nearly twice as great as the January forecast.

To make up the additional cash required for Federal disbursements, the President expects the treasury to borrow only $2,000,000,000 in one ninety billion one and next June will reduce $1,000,000,000 of the cash on hand in government bonds.

"The unemployed are continuing to be absorbed in industry, and I believe there will be a further substantial increase of such employment during the coming months," the President said.

Whether it will be sufficient to permit such a reduction in work relief rolls as will bring them within the amount appropriated by Congress is a matter that cannot be determined for several months.

In estimating revenues, the amount that would be necessary to care for a reduced number of unemployed during the current fiscal year, an amount which he claims has affected large sections of our country.

To provide relief for the drought-stricken areas, the President asked large expenditures from the emergency relief appropriations now necessary.

The total amount that will be needed for this purpose cannot be determined for several months.

He released an assertion in Congress that the new January budget message that on new relief appropriations which he considers "very definitely a substantial increase" for the nation.

EXHAUST FIRST PANEL IN BLACK LEGION TRIAL

Detroit, Sept. 2 (AP).—A second panel of 100 veniremen was summoned to circuit court today for selection of a jury to try 10 men charged with the Black Legion "execution" of Charles A. Poole last week.

The new panel was called when it appeared the first panel of 92 would be exhausted before a jury was obtained.

Forty-two members of the first panel remained to be examined by Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan when court opened today, and nine jurors were seated tentatively.

"I have no idea when we will get a jury," the judge said. "At one time Tuesday we had 14 jurors in the box who had never served on a jury before. What more the defense or prosecution wanted I don't know."

Forty-one veniremen were excused Tuesday.

In Oakland County, where a grand jury yesterday reported that 86 men, many of them employees of the state, county or city of Pontiac, had been members of the Black Legion, J. L. Tabor, head of a citizens' committee, demanded that all members of the terroristic band be purged from the city payroll.

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald already has recommended that state employees shown to be Black Legion members be discharged.

Several of the officials named in the grand jury report issued statements today that they joined the Black Legion for political purposes, and that they dropped out at once when they learned the true nature of the membership organization.

Probation Given In Church Theft

Worcester, Sept. 2.—Walter Rhine, 35, formerly suspected member of the Whiteville Catholic Cemetery, was placed on probation for two years today in Superior Court, after he was charged with larceny of $1200 in church funds. The church refused to prosecute him.

30 U. S. RESETTLEMENT PROJECTS 'SUSPENDED'

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP).—The drought has hit a hard blow, temporarily, at least, to the plans of the resettlement administration.

Assistant Administrator C. B. Baldwin said today that because funds originally earmarked for resettlement work were needed in drought areas, the administration was "suspending" 30 projects for which plans had been approved.

In some instances, Baldwin said, and for these projects had been approved but no construction work on any of them had been started.

The revised program was said to call for completion at this time of some 45 projects on which construction has been begun, including the three "model" suburban developments at Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Greenbelt, Md.

Baldwin declined to make an estimate of the immediate sum which would be saved by abandonment of these projects.

The "temporarily" abandoned list as published by the Washington Post includes the Garrett Farms and Cumberland Valley Farms in Maryland; Natchez Trace, Miss.; Ryan Farms, Okla.; Santa Anna Gardens, Calif.; Beaver Creek Farms, Mont.; Ohio Farms, Ohio; Hawwood, Tenn.; Prairie Farms, Ala.; Ecumina, Fla.; Fort Valley, Ga.; Solita Garden Homes, S. C.; Bowen, Morgan and Waverly Farms, Colo.; Eastern Arkansas Valley Farms, Colo.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Gallatin Farms, Ill.; Bearwood Farms, Minn.; Raily River Farms, Mont.; Rocky Bay, Mont.; Mills Northern, S. Mex.; Raleigh Subdivided Farms, N. C.; Wake Farms, N. C.; Wolf Pit, N. C.; Youngland, Ohio; Substantor Homestead, Bryan Farms, Okla.; Greenville, S. THE HEARST INTERESTS Spend More MONEY Yearly for PAPER in the STATE of MAINE THAN ANY OTHER SINGLE PURCHASER

Governor Brann, in his political campaign, has said night after night that Mr. William Randolph Hearst has never bought a penny's worth of newsprint paper in Maine.

That statement is not true. The facts are:

Mr. Hearst, in the past six years, has bought more than $1,300,000.00 of Maine newsprint from the Maine Seaboard Paper Company of Bucksport, Me.

He bought Maine newsprint from the Bucksport Mill the first year it was established. He has bought paper there ever since. The Mill is shipping paper to him now.

In addition to this year, the Mill has orders from Mr. Hearst for shipments during 1937 to a value in excess of $300,000.00.

Mr. Hearst has been buying magazine paper in the State of Maine for 23 years.

In that time, he has bought more than $37,500,000.00 of Maine magazine paper from the Oxford Paper Company of Rumford, Me.

Mr. Hearst is the largest customer of the Oxford Paper Company.

Hearst Magazines are the largest users of paper in the world. The Hearst Magazines buy more than 50 per cent of their paper from Maine.

These facts are important.

They are not stated in the interest of any political campaign now being made in Maine.

They are stated in the interest of truth.

They are stated in order that the people of Maine may have the advantage of the real facts, namely:—

Mr. Hearst's very large purchases of Newsprint and Magazine Paper have been important to the success of two of the great industries of Maine, to the employment of the workers in those industries and to the income of the investors in those industries.

Linda's Plan

Linda was a girl of about twenty, with a face that was not only beautiful but also intelligent. Her eyes were a deep blue, and her hair was a rich brown. She was dressed in a simple, elegant gown that suited her perfectly. She was looking at him with a slight smile, and he was looking at her with a look of intense interest.

Tubbs' Story

Tubbs was a man of about thirty, with a face that was not only handsome but also intelligent. His eyes were a deep blue, and his hair was a rich brown. He was dressed in a simple, elegant suit that suited him perfectly. He was looking at her with a look of intense interest, and she was looking at him with a slight smile.

A Way Out?

There was a way out, but it was not an easy one. It was a path that led to a life of hardship and struggle, but it was a path that led to a life of freedom and independence. It was a path that led to a life of adventure and excitement, but it was a path that led to a life of danger and peril.

Concentration of Chic in Knit

The dress is a simple, elegant design that is perfect for a woman who wants to look chic and sophisticated. The knit texture adds a touch of texture and interest to the design. The dress is long and flowing, and it has a high neckline and long sleeves. It is a perfect example of the concentration of chic in knit.

Married Comrades

Married comrades are a common sight in many parts of the world. They are men and women who are married to each other and who live together. They are often seen walking down the street or sitting on a bench. They are a part of the fabric of society, and they are a source of strength and support for each other.

Laura Wheeler

Laura Wheeler is a woman of about thirty, with a face that is not only beautiful but also intelligent. Her eyes are a deep blue, and her hair is a rich brown. "Your Figure, Madame!"

By IDA JEAN KAIN

TONELESS abdominal muscles are almost universal. Your figure as a girl that has not been trained. When your ring bands of abdominal muscles are trained in the form of efficient girdle, why not a girdle in training a straight front line?

The answer is, you don't use your muscles. These muscles become lazy from inactivity and allow the whole body to sag. Furthermore, lack of tone in the abdominal wall favors a rapid deposit of fat.

When you were young, these important muscles were kept in exercise by the time with such exciting activities as climbing, swimming, jumping, and so on. But as you grew older, these muscles became lazy and allowed the whole body to sag.

In the youthful figure, the muscles are well-developed and firm. They are the factor that gives the figure its shape. They are the muscles that give the figure its tone. They are the muscles that give the figure its beauty.

Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles! Strengthen those muscles!

POWER HEADS CLASH

YARDSTICKS CALLED TUTU

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Government experts and utilities executives clashed today over the value of government-owned utilities as "yardsticks" for the power industry.

John E. Zimmerman, president of United Gas Improvement Company, called "yardsticks" like the Tennessee Valley authority's program "fruitful" and deplored competition in public utilities as "wasteful."

Mr. Zimmerman's remarks were made in a speech before a group of power industry executives.

World Gold Production Sidelights

Gold Production in the United States

In 1934 the world's gold production was the largest ever recorded, amounting to 2,675,000 fine ounces. The chart shows the gold production by country since 1920.

The United States dominates the gold-producing countries of the world, but during the past three years it has not kept pace with the expansion that has taken place in other countries. This has been due more to the mining of low-grade ores, rather than to a reduction of mining operations.

Russia, for the past two years, has occupied second place among the gold-producing countries of the world. The total output in 1934 amounted to 2,650,000 fine ounces, or more than 3 times the amount produced in 1925.

During the past six years world gold production has increased at a rapid pace. Since 1929 total production has increased by more than 50 percent.

However, figures such as those reported by Great Britain, serve their purpose by way of explaining why the present world-wide shortage of gold is not a new phenomenon.

Everyone knows that gasoline consumption in the United States is greater, by any standard, of measurement, than in any other country.

Relief Workers' Wages

WOMEN ON RELIEF IN NEW YORK CITY

During the summer of 1935 low wages and heavy family responsibilities forced 60,000 employed women in New York City to seek relief from the emergency relief bureau.

The emergency relief bureau of New York City has made study of the earnings, occupations, marital status and number of dependents of employed women on relief, classified according to occupations. The weekly earnings are exclusive of relief.

Women in clerical occupations were the highest paid, their weekly earnings averaging $12.07 per week. At the other extreme were the women who were employed as laundresses. Their weekly earnings averaged only $3.37.

Most of the emergency relief bureau during the summer of 1935 were women with dependent children. The chart shows the average weekly earnings of women on relief, classified according to occupations. The weekly earnings are exclusive of relief.

OH, YEAH, READ WALLACE

By LESLIE GOULD International News Service Writer

The secretary of agriculture is an officer of the government. He is a member of the President's official family. In assuming office, he takes a sacred oath to uphold the Constitution and the Government of the United States.

Although he is not elected, being appointed by the President, his salary is paid by the taxpayers.

In view of the above statements of fact, consider the following quotations from a book recently written by Henry A. Wallace, the present holder of this post under President Roosevelt.

Here they are: "If we draw any inspiration direct or indirect from Marx the patron saint of the Soviet idea of government, such an inspiration," the American secretary of agriculture writes, "will certainly be justified to fully as much as it is in practical operation as the Founding Fathers justified their inspiration from the French idea of working out the Constitution."

Today, when there is so much talk of the need for a new democratic political society, it is not surprising that a stream of thought for the twentieth century should be directed toward the French idea of working out the Constitution.

There can be no such thing as a free lunch. The American way of doing things. It can only be achieved by overthrowing the present order of things in America. And that is exactly what the secretary is obviously doing.

But to get on with the secretary's own statements: "If our more privileged and powerful people—mark this well—under the present rules of the game—financiers, corporations, lawyers and directors—suddenly fail to understand the signs of the times, one type of slavery may be evolved."

If this is not a threat, then this writer has never read the Bible. Note the words: "one type of slavery." It should recall that speech of the secretary of agriculture, the economic royalist. "This is obviously where the President got his ideas from," the secretary remarks.

The secretary, after making his threat, if the "economic royalists" do not bow to a few new gods, is all too ready to advise that "if they—the directors, etc.—are able to do so, they will make certain fundamental changes in the present order of things in America, one type of slavery may be evolved."

Keep in mind all the time that this is an official of the government. He is a member of the President's official family. In assuming office, he takes a sacred oath to uphold the Constitution and the Government of the United States.

ELECTRIC POWER

Output Reaches New Peak

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Electric power production reached its center-season rise to unprecedented levels during the week ended August 29.

The Associated Press index of power output, with 1929-1930 taken as 100, advanced to 174, a new high, from 166 in the preceding week. The index also stood at 166 in the preceding week.

Actual production, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute, was 2,135,000 kilowatt hours, the highest output ever recorded, and an increase of 1.1 percent over the 2,109,000 kilowatt hours, 800,000 output of the preceding week.

The year ago production was 1,980,000 kilowatt hours, or 180 percent under that of the latest week.

The high rate of operations in the steel industry, large-scale use of power in irrigation works in the drought-stricken Western states, and the hot weather all over the country were factors contributing to the increase.

End-of-the-month buying Monday brought the days' sale to 3,800,000 pounds, with the result that total sales in August came to approximately 31,000,000 pounds. This compares with 30,000,000 pounds sold in July and 27,000,000 pounds in August.

Domestic copper markets were reported rather quiet today with the price unchanged at 9.75 cents a pound. However, with the books of foreign markets also quiet, it is possible that increased buying may develop soon.

Foreign copper markets also were quiet today with the price unchanged at 9.75 cents a pound. However, with the books of foreign markets also quiet, it is possible that increased buying may develop soon.

BANGOR, AROOSTOOK

New Preferred Issue

Stockholders of the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad will meet October 9 to vote on authorizing the offering of $2,500,000 of 5 percent cumulative convertible preferred stock, $100 par value per share, proceeds of which would be used to refund $2,485,000 of 7 percent preferred stock now outstanding and for other corporate purposes.

It is proposed that the offering be underwritten by a fee of not more than $25,000, the payment of not more than $120 for each share of preferred stock. This would be the first offering of railroad stock in the public since the offering of $1,000,000 of 7 percent preferred stock by the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad in December, 1932.

Stockholders will be asked to authorize the sale of 25,000 shares of $100 par value common stock, which with $250,000 of 5 percent preferred stock, would be used to refund $2,485,000 of 7 percent preferred stock now outstanding and for other corporate purposes.

There Is No Security In Destruction

THE principle of social security does not lend itself to debate by intelligent people, but the manner of its attainment is debatable by minds inspired by the highest motives.

Unless caution is exercised, the DESIRABILITY of security is far removed from its ATTAINMENT.

These facts were effectively recognized by the National Fraternal Congress in New York in a resolution urging careful procedure upon lawmakers in the enactment of social security legislation:

"Let in their noble purpose they impose so great a burden on their citizens that they destroy both those whom they would seek to help and those who must bear the cost of social experiment."

Nobility of purpose does not grant immunity from destructive error. The goal of social security in the United States cannot be reached through the confiscation of the resources of THOSE WHO PROVIDE THE FOUNDATIONS OF ALL SECURITY.

When insecurity is the lot of part of our people the condition is not alleviated by impoverishing the secure by governmental decree. There is no security for anyone in a policy of government that tends to reduce all of our people to the economic and social levels of the most miserable.

Security will only be achieved by a government that encourages its citizens to acquire and preserve THE MEANS OF SECURITY, and that finds a way to extend succor to its less fortunate citizens WITHOUT PUTTING CONFISCATORY PENALTIES UPON THE PROVIDENT.

Farley's Choice of Words

AN interesting contrast between the thinking of Governor Landon and James A. Farley is afforded by messages sent by the two men to their respective campaign groups in Kansas.

Mr. Landon's message to the Republican State Council in Kansas expressed confidence:

"That your meeting will reflect the harmony between men and principles."

Mr. Farley's message to the Democratic Council said:

"We have Landon groggy."

Mr. Farley, who uses the questionable tactics of the prize ring to further his political purposes, also uses its language to express himself.

In the words of the manager who urged his tottering, bleeding charge on to new efforts, Mr. Farley should say:

"We can't hurt yet."

Boston Loses Leader

EDWARD P. BARRY, former Lieutenant-Governor, noted attorney and civic leader, dead in Jamaica Plain at 72 years of age, closed his life as he would have lived to close it.

He spoke at a Salvation Army dinner, honored a man devoted to works of charity, returned home, retired and died in his sleep.

It was significant that Edward P. Barry who served his fellow-citizens so well should have said "good-bye" by praising one who also served well.

Slogans--Do You Remember?

A War to End War. Making the World Safe for Democracy. A Last of the Wars. So Man May Never Fight Again. That Perpetual Peace May Shine--you remember those pretty phrases if you fought in the Great War, or lived when others were fighting it. If not, you read them in books or heard them in school.

Children of Intolerance and Propaganda, artfully mated in Europe, those pretty phrases, serene-like, lured our men and women. Over There, and buried many of both.

Today, in pretty phrases almost old enough to vote, Europe sends to many pictures like the one above. This happens to be a view of a group of the eight million five hundred thousand more Mussolinis say he could have under arms in an instant.

Other pictures, from Germany from Russia from France and from every European nation, big or small, could show you other men, other arms.

Look at the musketed, bearded men. Recall the pretty phrases. Think. And draw your own conclusions when you read of the next attempt to ensure Uncle Sam in a European "peace" conference.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

New York, Sept. 2.—The metropolitan area, which has been a conical town, is likely to become what elvish hunters have considered it long ago.

A crack summer resort, New York's summer life is now a thing of the past. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

Even the great variety of restaurants, which were once a feature of the city, are now a thing of the past. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

Never has there been such terrible summer business in the city. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

Up and down Park and Fifth avenues this summer the department stores were installing new window displays. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

Valentine's acts have changed to a new regime. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

The new crop of performers are all new recruits. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

I talked to a fiction teacher recently who said she had a 12th grade assignment. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

His wife was a thoroughgoing musician, one of those who, when she was a girl, was a thoroughgoing musician. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

For an interesting reason, perhaps the topic of voice was chosen. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

His wife was a thoroughgoing musician, one of those who, when she was a girl, was a thoroughgoing musician. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

Every time and then I drop around in James J. Donaghy's office. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

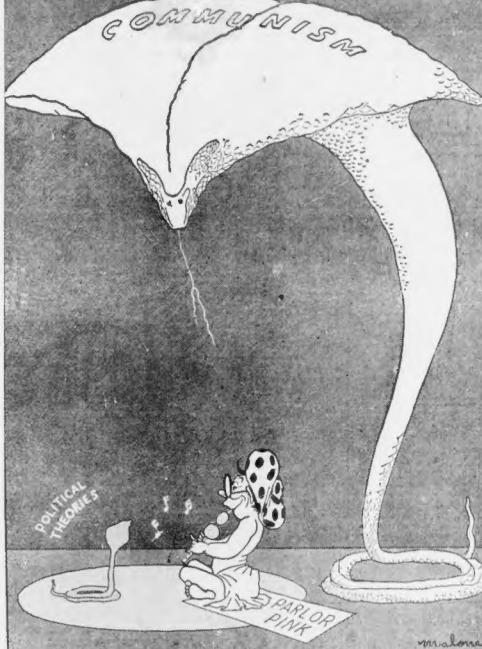

Most of the world's excitement comes from his high school outfit. The city is now a place of business, and the summer residents have left.

That the man who married her in the midst of a war, and who had the most of sugar on his nose and back, he is "speaking" for it.

That the man who would skip his lunch in order to talk with her, and who had the most of sugar on his nose and back, he is "speaking" for it.

That the man who married her in the midst of a war, and who had the most of sugar on his nose and back, he is "speaking" for it.

The Big Snake Is Charmed, Too!

While the Parlor Pink is playing
Charming airs, as Fakirs do,
And his own pet snake is swaying

To the pinkish balhyhoo,
He is dead and dumb and blind
To the cobra cack behind.

—George E. Phair.

Marry-Gc-Round

Arming the Philippines Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

THE GLOBE TROTTER OF HEART METROITONE NEWS

Military strategy is following modern football. It's the open game that's changing everything. The Philippines is a $2,000,000,000 island. It's a national football park. It's a national football park.

About one half of the inhabitants of the Philippines live in Manila. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city.

A BRILLIANT RECORD
He has indicated that the main power and resources of the Philippines are concentrated in the Manila area. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city.

Military experts are keenly interested, and apparently agree. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city.

This interest is heightened by the general belief that the Philippines are a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city.

It was commander of the Philippine Islands from 1921 to 1925 and head of the Philippine department from 1925 to 1929. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city. It's a tremendous city.
